

Corporate Energy Procurement 2023 program

Registration

Session I. - Electricity and gas procurement - How, when, how much, for what?

In the last few weeks, there has been an encouraging fall in listed gas and electricity prices and perhaps the competition is consolidating in the market. At the same time, however, the situation of domestic consumers in a critical energy market still raises several burning questions this spring. For this reason, it is worth for buyers and traders to initiate dialogue now to negotiate the right gas and electricity contracts for the 2023-34 season and our event will help catalyse these discussions.

What we will talk about: changes in energy market prices (gas-electricity) - international/domestic influencing factors; domestic possibilities/practice of procurement strategies; altering trader-consumer relations and conditions of bidding; consumer experiences with purchasing/contracting.

Session II. - Energy efficiency technologies and first-hand experience

The real question is who will survive this period among those in a difficult situation because they cannot get a good annual contract, especially not a fixed price or only with an extra surcharge and they do not have the liquidity for longer advance payment. How can we save with a Take or Pay obligation or if unilateral trader contractual amendments are built into the General Business Conditions? There's nothing left to do but go forward: energy rationalising programmes, specific reduction in consumption costs, replacing energy use, subrogating costs and reducing production. How do others do it and what do the experts suggest?

Moderator: Kata Tóth, Conference project leader, Portfolio

15:30 - 15:45 Energy procurement fixed over the long term - PPA
