09:10 - 10:00 Permanent rearrangement or a slow return to the status quo? - What is in store for the property market?

Was the past year and a half just a bad dream, or has it brought damages, changes and structural transformation from which there is no way back? Sustainability and the survival of the planet have again come to focus after COVID. Certain categories are still struggling spectacularly with uncertainty, while green funds are increasingly finding their ways to suitable assets. What should we leave behind for good, and what are the new focal points in the property market?

10:30 - 11:10 "Greenhorn" financing - The weak pun hides billions in available financing, but what are investors looking for?

One year ago, a green bond issue was sufficient to win "Property market innovation of the year" at the Portfolio Property Awards, but Hungarian property firms have issued more than HUF 100 billion in green bonds since then, and green mortgage debentures, the Green Home Programme and green loans are only about to launch. There have been huge changes in the financing market, which will have a substantial impact on projects and investments alike.

Will we forgo our personal space and crowd around shared desks? Will HR or finance call the shots? Do businesses know what they need at all? How can old properties compete with new ones? What kind of changes and flexibility will tenants require, or already do? Will the vacancy rate rise further, putting pressure on rents? Will the segment split to soaring and tanking sub-markets? 09:30 - 10:15 New ones are coming! - Several hundred thousand square metres of new office space to strain the market in coming years

The "home office v. quarantine office" dilemma is one of the most burning issues for all players in the office market. While existing office buildings are trying to remain competitive along technical, employee well-being and sustainability requirements, greenfield projects have to be attractive to tenants and investors alike amidst rising construction prices, changing tenant requirements (such as infinite flexibility) and tighter regulations.

Speaker:

Dr. Csilla Rázsóné Szórády, vezérigazgató, újHÁZ Centrum

14:05 - 14:45 Material costs unchained! - What will happen to projects?

There is no more burning issue at present than the soaring construction material prices, which have a huge impact on the property market, and the government's attempts to rein in prices. But what good will it do? Can prices be pushed down and supply problems alleviated? Or does it all depend on global trends? Can commodities that have become expensive be cheap once again? Will there also be flexibility downwards? What does the construction industry have in store for the property market?

14:55 - 15:35 What is equity looking for? - Challenges for investors and increasingly green expectations

Investment strategies in the post-COVID, pre-climate disaster market. This is an incredibly uncertain period for investors, as they have to invest the funds coming in into profitable, high-yield assets amidst huge risks and uncertainty. While ESG, green bonds and green investment funds are soaring, they still need to find suitable properties. The fight for green has started as the race for high and safe returns continues. Are there good alternative solutions or will core assets prevail?

New entrants, incumbents switching gears, regional competition, changing rules, huge demand, changing requirements and enormous interest from the Far East characterise the market of logistics and industrial properties.
